Prologue

Along with recording the personalities and happenings of the year, which are the basic purposes of the yearbook, our class was required to select a theme for the Portal.

This problem was easily solved as a consequence of the influence of our English teachers in the instruction of Shakespeare's inspirational works that left a favorable impression on us.

As these long enduring passages come to us from the Elizabethan Period, we realize their meanings and morals are as appropriate and significant as were true during the period of their origin.

It is now apparent that too little thought was given to the proposed intention of this gifted writer at the time they were written.

We, the future leaders of the world, who must share the burden and responsibility of the ever increasing problems which face us should be aware of the value of these words. Therefore, we should try to absorb the beneficial advice this immortal bard has set down before us.

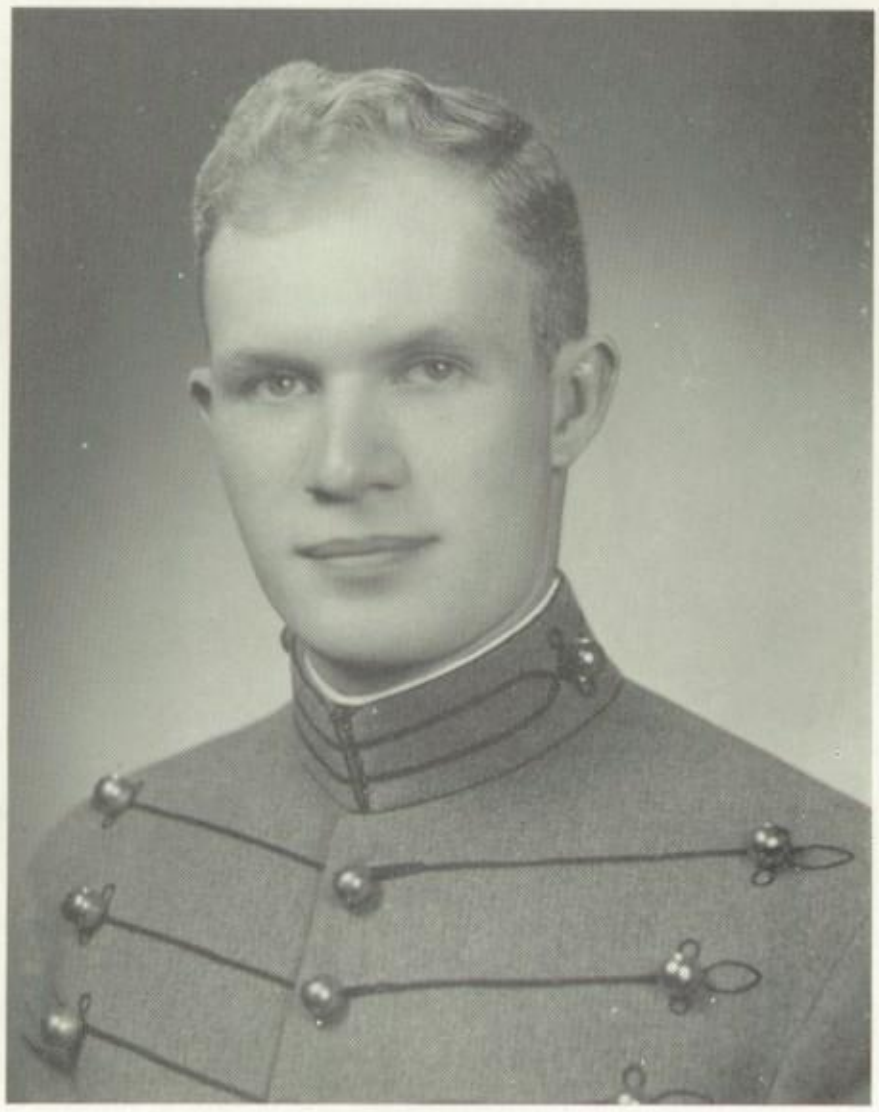
With this thought in mind we have chosen the Shakespearean theme as the background for our 1952 Portal.

In Memoriam

PAUL ORRIS

In memory of Paul Orris who died in June, 1951, at the age of seventeen and was a member of the class of '56.

IN RECOGNITION



JAY LUTHER

It is fitting and proper that we give recognition to Jay Luther who graduated from Richland in 1946 and will complete his education at the United States Military Academy, June 4, 1952.

During his four years at West Point he was a member of the Cadet Chapel Choir, the French Club, and the intramural track team.

He served as a company representative for the "Howitzer" on the yearbook staff, and coached an intramural squash team.

After graduation he will enter the Engineering Corps of the United States Army.

WE PROUDLY DEDICATE THIS 1952 PORTAL TO MISS SUSAN ELIZABETH GREEN

It is with deep appreciation that we dedicate this volume to Miss Susan Elizabeth Green for her unfailing efforts and understanding during the years we have spent at Richland.

We were indeed fortunate in having her as class adviser for two years, as a history, and math teacher, and as a home room teacher.

She has gone far beyond the duties of a teacher by taking an earnest interest in making us useful, confident citizens, and molding our characters along the lines they will surpass in.

Because of these characteristics that we remember so well, and the help she has given us, we wish to take this opportunity to express our gratitude, and hope that we may always attain the goals she has made accessable to us.

The Board of Education is the legal education authority for the school district, operating under authority granted by the State Legislature, and subject to the will of the people as expressed through periodic elections.

Hence, it can be truly said that there is no more important public service than that of acting as a member of a board of education, and there is no public service whose proper transaction requires greater business acumen, more patience and common sense, and greater devotion to a cause. Boards of Education have under their direction not only the most important and the most technical public business, but also the largest local public business.

Needless to say, the board exceeds in character, education, energy, personality and other qualities, which are associated with stability and success, the members of the board of education are above the average of the people whom they represent; usually they are respected leaders in the community and have the welfare of the pupils, the public, and the school at heart.

THE SUMMARY

Though Richland's 1951-52 sports record was not impressive, the boys of Coaches Elwood Varner, William Smith, and Gunther Edelman gave local sports enthusiasts many thrills, a lot of excitement and a few heartbreaks.

A real thriller was served the Richland fans who next witnessed a nip and tuck battle as the Rams edged out South Fork 7-0.

The score, 12-6 of the Richland-Adams game does not indicate the nature of the hard-fought contest. The Rams controlled most of the second half and gave one-defeated Adams a real scare.

The Rams added their third victory of the year in their last game by beating Conemaugh.

Ferndale, Westmont, Portage, Somerset, Boswell, and Shade, in that order humbled the Rams before there was any sign of a victory. Ferndale and Westmont, true, won by only one touchdown margins, and Portage was behind at the half before finding itself to also upset the Rams.

However, in the seventh game for the Rams, the tide finally turned, and Richland won a 19-0 victory over Berlin!

Gale Klaum paced the Ram charges with 20 points. Dick Mills crossed the goal thrice to be second highest scorer.

The junior varsity and junior high teams were equally unimpressive. The former lost six straight and the latter won a single game of four played.

In basketball, the Rams likewise went through a lean season, one of the worst in the school's history.

Four encounters passed by the boards before the Rams could manage a win, as they ended up on the long end of a 54-40 score with South Fork.

In the West Central League, ten losses piled up in a row before the team could salvage a victory following the win over South Fork. However, during this stretch of winlessness, some of the Ram opponents were forced to go all out to reach victory, as the 53-55 and 50-51 scores of the Portage and South Fork games, respectively indicate. The 40-37 Ram win over Conemaugh pulled the team out of its slump only to have a Franklin High team push the Rams once more into the loss column. The varsity cagers then ended the season by squeezing past Nanty Glo 51-49.

High scorer, with 184 points to his credit, was John Matey, a senior, who had an over-all season scoring average of 10.2 points per game. Adam Yamber pulled in second with 111 counters.

The junior varsity cage team after a poor start, was going great guns by mid-season but suffered greatly by the loss of many of its main-stays to the varsity. The Lambs ended their season under Coach William Smith with a 9-won-9-lost record.

Third place honors in the Great Johnstown Junior High League were captured by the Richland junior high team coached by Gunther Edelman. A 5-6 won-lost record was achieved by the Lambkins who had alternating victories and defeats during their season.

Richlandites can look forward to a much better football and basketball record next year as many experienced boys will be back fighting for their alma-mater. This was the main difficulty with this year's squads which received few returning lettermen from last year's great teams.

Contrary to the poor seasons of the football and basketball teams, school spirit was stronger than ever this year and the attendance at basketball games was the highest ever witnessed during the history of the school.

The cheerleaders proved more indispensible than ever in their office of boasting the student body's as well as the teams' moral, and promoting the will to win. Mildred Warshel served as head cheerleader and Mrs. Phyllis Dregallo, gym instructor, supervised the group.

Drum majorette, Claudette Smith, led the band at football games throughout the season.

School began and another group of Freshmen were beginning on the four year road of high school.

To them it was a new adventure with many troubles and hard work.

At their first class meeting they elected Diller Helman as president. He was to be assisted by Vice President Robert Decker, Secretary Ronnie Smith and Treasurer Carol Pallos. The Freshman advisers and aids were to be Miss Nettie Jean Russell and Mr. Walter Christ.

February 26 came around quickly and the class had come to the highlight of their school year. It was their money making project that was in the form of the Mardi Gras Dance. This activity proved that even though they are beginning on their long journey through school they have the initiative to work hard and make success of the duties which lie before them.

On September 11, the Sophomore Class began organization of their class by electing the following officers: Larry Zimmerman, President; Thomas Gerosin, Vice President; Dean Gallagher, Secretary, and Barry Fyock, Treasurer.

Maroon and white were the colors selected along with the white carnation as their flower and their very fine motto, "A hard beginning maketh a good ending."

Miss Carmelia Messina, Mr. Richard Pardoe, and Miss Martha Schwing, served as their advisers and assisted them in planning activities. Their money making activity was a movie held in the auditorium of the high school with the title, "The Conte of Monte Cristo."

Many of the students of this class have participated in such fields of activity as basketball, football, track, baseball, dramatics, girls ensemble, girls chorus, band, and the mixed ensemble.

One of the outstanding members of their class, Corrine Blanset was selected to play second violin in the Central-Western Pennsylvania Orchestra. She was also chosen to play in All State Orchestra. Also in the field of music, Lois Jean Stewart and Donna Hancock represented Richland in the All County Band which was held at Ebensburg, Pa.

Lois Eplett won first place in an essay contest sponsored in the greater Johnstown area in which she wrote about Socialized Medicine.

These ambitious Sophomores have proved during the past term that with guidance and help, they will be able to carry out the excellent motto which they have set up to follow.

THE JUNIOR CLASS

With Agnes Barry as president; Jackie Saba, vice president; James Ruhe, secretary; and Carolyn Hostetler as treasurer, the Junior Class proceeded to make advancements toward their senior year and financing the Senior Prom with able assistance from Mr. Carl Lamonica and Miss Leila Dodd.

Their first money making project was the Junior Foot Ball which turned out to be a huge success.

During the football season the junior boys were well represented on the team, while the girls added their support to the efforts of the school.

"If You Can Look Into The Seeds of Time"

C. Hostetler, A. Barry, J. Rhue, J. Saba

"Good Luck Lies In Odd Numbers"

Their second activity was the Harvest Moon Hop of October 17. During this month they ordered their maroon and gray hats, pennants, and emblems.

The big dance of the year was the Sadie Hawkins Dance when Gale Klaum and Norma Claire were elected Lil' Abner and Daisy Mae.

The arrival of the felt goods gave the juniors a chance to show off. The concluding activity, whose preparations kept the juniors in a whirl, was the annual Junior-Senior Prom on May 24 at the Jacktown Hotel, Irwin, Pa.

School being over, another senior class is leaving Richland High School to face the world that is theirs. In some respects we are sad, and in some we are happy.

Several times through our high school years, we have become very discouraged but a bright spot always came into our lives to deviate our thoughts.

Our many teachers are able to recall the trying times we showed them. However, after all was said and done, I believe we proved to be worthwhile.

During our high school years, we proved in the fields of music, sports, dramatics, and scholastically that we are fine in many respects and if we continue to work hard will make a success of the life which is lying before us.

We wish to extend our best wishes to all the fine students which will follows us through this institution of learning. Hard work and co-operation is needed if they are to succeed instead of fail.

To our teachers we want to say "THANK YOU" for the help, guidance, and instruction which have been our guide post during these twelve years of school.

The education, enjoyment, and the friends we have made are things that we have and which cannot be taken away from us. There are no words that can express our thanks for all the leadership we have been shown. But, we will carry in our hearts when we leave Richland High School a respect and appreciation for those who have made it possible for us, "THE SENIORS OF 1952" to achieve a worthwhile goal in life.

THE SENIOR

Several years ago, I who am now "The Spirit of '52" looked upon an apparently ordinary group of Freshmen students. To most onlookers these students seemed no more exceptional than any other freshman class.

However, in them, I saw visions of a class that was destined to become one of the greatest to graduate from R. H. S.

It was because of the underlying qualities that I saw, that I wanted to follow them through their four years in high school.

Many days I was present in their classes, but there is one that is most symbolic of the Senior Class of '52.

I remember clearly as I entered first period shorthand class, Betty Roman, who was always good natured, was endeavoring to overcome the confusion of early morning rush in an effort to study her shorthand. June Lambert and Georgianna Keyser, two of the engaged members were harmonizing on one of the new popular tunes.

Beatrice Webb, a small and cheerful girl, was composing a letter to Betty Saba, who had just been operated on for appendicitis, and was very much missed by her classmates. The thoughtful student of the group Joan Stinebiser suggested that they all write a note to Betty.

Larry Deitz and Anna Stopko, a gay couple were giggling riotously at the sink in the corner, disrupting the class.

After dictation started, and things settled down, I quietly meandered over to the Agricultural room where a husky, typical farmer, Van Hoffman, the handsome blond, Tom Birkhimer, tall, witty, Ralph Hostetler, and the quiet, considerate Bill Harmon were indulging in horseplay while posing for a yearbook picture with the project they had won first place with at the Ebensburg Fair.

Just then the bell rang and I found myself out on the football field where the girls gym class was in session. Naturally, the athlete of the class, Jackie Gahagen was hitting fungos to equally sports minded Mildred Mattis before the rest of the girls were dressed.

Mona Fyock, an intelligent and quick witted girl handed bats to attractive Joann Bloom, who is usually an honor roll student.

The first part of third period found me in Mr. Hozik's English class where Dave Kaufman, the magician and Shakespearean admirer was busily engaged with handsome Dick Blough, the strong and silent type, and Jean Ruhe, a natural intellect, were discussing the problems of their personal lives.

I slipped away to P. O. D. where Lillian Drosky, a sweet, faithful girl wrote a letter to her soldier boy with the willing help of Dolores Graziani, a talented accordion player. Rugged Devon Brendle, who had just returned from a Baltimore Navy Hospital, conversed with the star of our football team, John Matey, about a previous game.

Talkative Marilyn Schaller joked with Mr. Samuel as short and cheerful Art Nagle snatched mischievous Telford Miller's pencil and proceeded to break it.

In the fourth period bookkeeping room, studious and intelligent Yvonne Hardy talked over a problem with a reserved and considerate Janet Hilbrecht. Jean McLaughlin, the Kate Smith of the class, interrupted the instructor by attracting Shirley Gritzer's attention, who is known as a very fine typist. Tommy Swaltek, a jazzy drummer, tried to absorb the lesson while being bothered by the jovial jester, John Long. The period wouldn't be complete without a few bewildering questions from heart warming, and sincere Betty Smith.

Next I went to Trigonometry and witnessed a debate between philosophic Robert Heidingsfelder and Jack English, the politician and debater.

SPIRIT OF '52

Appetites were eventually satisfied and pretty and modest Carol Blanset enjoyed the company of sweet and petite Puggy Smith, head majorette, popular and versatile Mildred Warshel, and the raven haired and charming Bonnie Baker.

Skipping lunch for Echo were hard working Pat Boyer, headline-cutter, and sports writer, the untiring Jim Hunt. Little Ruthy Miller worked diligently over a typewriter in the Journalism room as sandy-haired Caryl Wire checked exchange.

After lunch I wandered into French Period 5 and was greeted by translations from musically inclined Wayne Streilein, editor of the Echo. Jack Gallagher, the voice of the class, struggled with tall, silent, and good-looking Chuck Birkhimer over their homework at the same time.

Red-headed Eloise Holsinger, the youngest senior, wrote secret notes while Miss Dodd wasn't looking.

I escaped to a busy office practice room on the first floor. Curly haired and smiling eyed Frank Fisher made every attempt to get out of washing boards as tall, strapping, Bill Rudge dropped a wet rag down his back.

Smiling and energetic Marlene Williams, Senior queen, and essay winner, strolled by me with an arm load of papers and stopped at pretty, fair complexioned Ruth Knipple's desk who's pleasing personality had won many friends.

Creeping into Journalism sixth period, I found hard working, trustworthy, and some times dependable Bungy Rusnak grueling over a last minute editorial. Robert Jacobs added noisy rhythm to the atmosphere with the cranking of the mimeograph.

Mr. Kuzmiak's English, sixth period found small, blond Jean Ann King, a small but sweet member, talking the teacher out of a test.

The last period of the day followed and I decided to visit Business Law. Class President, Mike Hrabosky, the sports manager, gave tall, dark haired Harry Koehler a list of activities, while good natured and well-mannered Jim Ribblett took the teacher's book.

Taking leave of the Law course I stepped into the Drivers' Training Ford and underwent a harrowing experience with Auto Club member, Richard Drosky that made me glad I was already a ghost.

Jolly, Bobby Pitea, sports manager, added his share of thrills and spills. By the time soft-spoken Paul Seliga, another boy with horseplay on his mind, got through with me I was glad to retreat back to school to see Harold Lehman, President of the Student Council going over plans and constitution amendments. Active Frank Miklaucic was carrying his accordion into the auditorium, where Bill McQuaide, the snazzy G. I. harcut with the flashy dance step exchanged comments with tall, Diller Helman, the playful party of the crowd. The fisherman, Arlen Mackle was the first one out of P. O. D. class when the bell rang to end the day.

Now that you have seen these students through my eyes, I am sure all those who knew them will remember how fine they were. It is because of their loyalty, co-operation, hard work, and pulling together that they have advanced this far.

As you can see, my prophesy of their future has come into reality. It is inevitable that I will watch over my prodigies while they continue the successful way of life that they have established so far.

RESERVED IN ACKNOWLEDGEMENT OF THEIR ASSISTANCE

This last division of the Portal has been composed to give acknowledgement to the many business men and patrons who demonstrated interest in the publication of our yearbook by giving us the necessary funds to support our program.

The donations received by our solicitors demonstrated the willingness of our advertisers thus knowingly understanding the pertinent problems confronting us. With due respect, the publication of our yearbook would not be printed without the generous contributions of our advertisers and patrons.

PROLOGUE

For the first time in our school's history, the bulk of layout, writing, editing, and financial bookkeeping has been turned over to us, the Portal Staff of 1952, by our adviser, Mr. John J. Kuzmiak, who has taken the job of yearbook adviser for the first time.

It was a bigger job than we had expected, and it was with deep relief and amazement that we met our deadlines.

Credit is due Mr. Milo Zimmerman of the ZIMMERMAN ENGRAVING CO., Paul and James Cover of COVER STUDIOS, SCHUBERT PRESS, Inc., and the cover representative of the MUELLER BOOK COVER COMPANY for their understanding and patience in helping us over the rough spots.

My thanks is extended to Marlene Williams who gave more time and effort than was demanded of her, and to Carol Blanset, who did a commendable job on the financial end.

On behalf of the entire staff, I express the hope that we have succeeded in giving you an annual worthy of Richland High School.

We also want to wish the Portal Staff of 1953 success in carrying on the service of providing a publication of incalculable value.

Louisa Rusnak.
